Ta langue à TOI, elle ressemble à quoi ?

Parlons langues

Sais-tu que les langues sont des muscles et qu'elles sont capables de faire beaucoup de choses ? Eh oui, les langues ne sont jamais fatiguées ou endolories !

La langue bleue de l'ours polaire absorbe la chaleur émise par les rayons du soleil pour se réchauffer.

La langue de la girafe est noire, ce qui la protège des rayons du soleil dans la savane africaine.

Le pangolin glisse sa longue langue dans les fourmilières pour en extirper des fourmis, son mets préféré.

La salamandre propulse sa puissante langue pour attraper des criquets et des mouches.

L'oie saisit l'herbe avec sa langue hérissée de petites dents, puis l'arrache pour la manger.

Les grenouilles attrapent les mouches avec leur salive visqueuse et leur langue extensible.

La langue râpeuse du chat lui permet de nettoyer son pelage.

Le chien se rafraîchit en tirant la langue, qui enflé lorsqu'il a trop chaud.

Le serpent utilise sa langue fourchue pour localiser des odeurs dans son environnement.

Le caméléon propulse sa langue à la vitesse de l'éclair pour attraper des sauterelles avant qu'elles ne s'échappent.

La baleine bleue, le plus grand animal de la planète, possède la langue la plus lourde. Elle lui permet de piéger le krill, dont il raffole.

La langue velue du flamant rose lui permet de filtrer des algues bleues et des crevettes, ses mets favoris.

Tire la langue ! Blblblbl !

(French)

Tu crois que les langues sont toutes douces et roses ? Les animaux possèdent des langues de différentes formes, tailles et couleurs. Ils les utilisent pour faire mille et une choses, sauf parler comme nous les humains.

This is a Level 2 book for children who recognize familiar words and can read new words with help.

Pratham Books goes digital to weave a whole new chapter in the realm of multilingual children's stories. Knitting together children, authors, illustrators and publishers. Folding in teachers, and translators. To create a rich fabric of openly licensed multilingual stories for the children of India and the world. Our unique online platform, StoryWeaver, is a playground where children, parents, teachers and librarians can get creative. Come, start weaving today, and help us get a book in every child's hand!
